

Mr. Michael E. Krieger

Army Deputy Chief Information Officer/G-6

Mike Krieger became the Army Deputy Chief Information Officer/G-6 in July 2008. He also served as the Acting, Army CIO/G-6 from November 2009 through March 2010. He oversees the implementation of the Army's strategic direction for the network and the enterprise network infrastructure. The Army CIO/G-6 oversees the Army's $10 billion IT investments, manages the enterprise IT architecture, establishes and enforces IT policies, and directs the delivery of operational C4IT capabilities to support warfighters and enable joint information dominance.

Mr. Krieger is a Senior Executive with broad experience in Information Technology. He served 25 years in the U.S. Army, with operational assignments in tactical communications and command and control.

He previously served as the Principal Director for the Deputy DoD Chief Information Officer, and also formerly held the position of Director for Information Policy and Integration in the Office of the DoD Chief Information Officer.

Mr. Krieger believes information assets must be visible, accessible, understandable, and trusted to achieve an information advantage for our Soldiers and mission partners.

Mr. Krieger holds a B.A. from the United States Military Academy, an M.S. in Physics from the Georgia Institute of Technology, and an M.S. in National Security Strategy from the National Defense University.
